

Leadership and Management Training Programme 2021 – 2022

Lancashire Middle Leadership Programme

A first level management course for teachers who want to develop their leadership and management skills. The course is linked to Headteachers' Standards 2020 and the Ofsted Framework. It is an essential basic course for anyone considering leadership promotion. There is an ongoing gap task throughout the programme to further develop leadership skills in school.

The course will focus on key aspects of:

- What are leadership and management?
- How to be a leader and a manager in school
- Whole school development planning and self-evaluation
- Introduction to school finance
- Managing people and leading teams
- Future career development and options
- Advice for applications and interviews.

Managing Your Primary Ofsted Inspection

- To have a clear understanding of the 2019 EIF and the different types of Inspection.
- To be confident in developing strategies to manage the process of inspection as an external validation of their own self-evaluation.
- To understand the importance of evaluating the performance of the school against Ofsted criteria.
- To know what evidence to use for the purpose of self-evaluation.
- To be supported in analysing the whole school assessment information and in writing a self-evaluation summary.

This two-day course is designed for headteachers and deputy headteachers/senior leaders to gain a detailed understanding of the inspection process and to improve their knowledge, skills and understanding in order to better manage this with confidence. The course is practical and based upon the most up to date experiences schools have had of inspection under the 2019 EIF.

Workhorse or White Elephant. Supporting Senior Leaders to evaluate the Intent, Implementation and Impact of Digital Technologies within their School

- Clarify how a vision for embedding digital technologies might directly underpin a school's broader curriculum intent.
- Identify key processes to monitor and evaluate the use and value of digital technologies.
- Ensure that the systems for monitoring are strong and resilient.
- Evaluate quality of the Computing curriculum and its use in supporting learning objectives in other curriculum areas.

Digital technologies may contribute substantially to an outstanding learning environment and innovative curriculum, supporting well motivated pupils and creating improved opportunities for learning to flourish. Unfortunately expensive resources are often used without effect and professional expertise exists in pockets, isolated from school priorities and as such has little impact in underpinning a school's ambitions for a broad and rich curriculum. The aim of this short course is to establish the essential conversations and monitoring processes that will allow senior leaders to audit provision and identify essential next steps in terms of its vision, standards of achievement and evidence base.

Becoming a Decisive Decision Maker - having the courage of your convictions

- Learn the science of how and why we make the decisions that we do (lessons from business, aviation, military and sport and to make more effective decisions).
- Learn about in the moment decision making versus strategic decision making and the role of 'context' which shapes our decision making.
- Learn about first and second order thinking in order to make brilliant strategic decisions.
- Learn about the role that cognitive biases play and which ones you may be more susceptible to when making decisions.
- Learn how to make decisive, committed and well thought out decisions when you need to most.

This course will equip you with a framework to make better decisions - decision making is a skill we can all get better at. Most people don't understand how they make decisions, let alone have a framework which they can make decisions from. This course will help you to become more 'process' focused in your decision making.

This course is led by Dr Mike Rotheram who is a Registered Performance Psychologist who works in elite sport, education, business and health. ### 24 Hours in Leadership: "Sometimes All You Need Is A New Perspective!"

After two years postponed, our residential conference is back and will provide an opportunity for school leaders to reconnect in person and for leadership teams to have the space to work together for 24 hours away from their schools.

The conference will begin at 12.00 noon on Thursday 30th June 2022 with a buffet lunch which will be served at 12.30pm and the conference will end at 2.00pm on Friday 1st July 2022 following a buffet lunch again served at 12.30pm.

The conference will make you think, provide you with practical strategies and tools to solve even what may seem like the most impossible problems and help you return to school with a renewed energy to help ALL your children achieve the best they can.

It aims to help you plan the best way forward, with built in reflection, review and planning time for you and your senior staff to work together as well as network with other school leaders.

Keynote speakers: Dr Mark Bawden "Are you wrestling with a 'pig' of a situation?"

Dr Andrew Curran "Twenty-five years of neurobiological research tells us that children learn best when they feel loved."

Each presentation will last for approximately 3 hours. The remainder of the time can be used flexibly to meet the needs of the delegates. Some leaders choose to spend this time on school related strategic planning and preparation and others enjoy simply chatting, engaging in dialogue with colleagues or having some personal, reflective or 'quiet' time. It is hoped that the hotel will also have leisure facilities which are available to resident delegates. (Please note that some of these facilities will incur an additional charge).

Area East - Headteacher Forum

These sessions are an opportunity for primary headteachers to meet with Area Team advisers:

- to provide headteachers with a forum for the discussion of current/future developments in leadership, management, learning and teaching; and
- to provide updates on recent and upcoming developments in the primary phase.

They are an opportunity for headteachers to network with other colleagues in the local area and keep up to date with recent developments. A variety of different approaches and learning tools are used to assist headteachers in developing the knowledge, understanding and skills required in leading and managing a primary school.
